Is chronic complaining toxic?
It takes away the energy and power to make things happen. Complainers talk more about the problems, never or less about the solutions. Unfortunately, complaining is like going down the rabbit hole. Once addicted to making complaints, the neurons in the brain create the path to rewire the brain toward negativity. Ah, there is a certain irony in complaining about others complaining. Any particular complaints you are complaining about? Which problems (or solutions) are you referring to? Is this about the RCSB closing the two schools? I should point out that many times when people complain about a thing, it is merely a reflection about themselves (not always, but oftentimes). It is important that you consider this factor not only for the complainers you are complaining about but also about yourself as you are complaining about the complainers complaining. For more details on this paradoxical introspection into self-actualization, please refer to some of the psychological analyses in these articles:

I wonder if you'd have the same label for him as you did that "little boy" the other night at the Board meeting.

The Department of Justice (DOJ) and the Biden administration are once again targeting conservative parents and school districts -- they are coming for us. Biden has fully weaponized the DOJ to go after Roanoke County Public Schools in an attempt to prevent them from adopting Governor Youngkin's revised model policies on transgender issues by any means necessary.

There is nothing this administration won't stoop to in order to protect their radical leftist ideology and the LGBTQ agenda. You need to vote Republican in this next election so we can fight these actions.

Maybe you could help us out since you have so much hatred in your heart.. so attorney client privilege information was taken out of the government center office and distributed to the citizens if you have any idea when this could have happened or who did it we would appreciate it.

Jennifer Carter Chumbley we also need to have a legal review and have you and your son and others subpoenaed so we can find out where all the information came from. There are laws that the BOS must follow and with all the snap shots of information you posted it's clear that someone has given you information that goes against that policy. You should be able to tell me who said these things. I am going to move forward and get down to where the rubber meets the road and find out who the leak is.

SWVA Patriots it's about doing the right thing you need to remember we didn't create the issues. The Democrats and the Biden administration have caused these issues with high inflation. When I took office we had a 1.4 million dollar deficit operating on a 3 million dollar ran note. People forget how we pulled out of that to a 4 million dollar surplus, that didn't happen from complaining. I have a tough hide and can take the criticism.

 I think we all support our students and teachers. It's the staff and those in charge that we don't agree with. Take HES for example. My daughter has some amazing teachers. Couldn't ask for any better. It's those in charge I don't agree with. I know I'll catch hell over it but we all have a right to voice our opinion to a certain point. Same goes for county employees. For the most part they are great people. It's just those in charge that people don't trust to make the right decisions. People of all parties need to get along and live in a peaceful place.

Dear Mr. Peanut,

The Russell County Board of Supervisors, including your office, has embraced social media as a means to disseminate crucial information for Russell County. As a Russell County citizen, business owner, and parent, I was once able to take advantage of this medium to have my views on Russell County issues heard directly by you and the Board of Supervisors- until I was blocked from viewing and replying to posts on your David Eaton for District 4 Supervisor page because I have questioned and criticized your take on various issues. I assert that I can prove comments that I posted prior to my blockage did not violate any posted terms of communication on your Facebook page, nor did they violate Facebook's code of conduct.

Restricting your page from any Russell County voter violates the First Amendment Right to Free Speech, as guaranteed to all Americans by the United States Constitution. Since you have violated my free speech rights, I demand that you immediately cease this unconstitutional action and restore, without delay, my access to your social media posts on any forum where you disseminate information about Russell County.

While your Facebook is privately maintained, it is a forum where you have routinely discussed government matters such as legislation, policy, votes, and various projects in and around Russell County. Thus, you have converted all social media accounts where these items have been discussed into a public forum. Like the county official in Davidson v. Loudon Cty. Bd. Of Supervisors, 26 F. Supp. 3d 702 (E.D. Va. 2017), you made "efforts to swathe your Facebook page in the trappings of your offices" by prominently displaying your official title, website, and other contact information on it; (2) have been "us[ing] it as a tool of governance" by engaging your constituents and keeping them informed with frequent links and commentaries; and (3) have devoted "[government] resources to support[ing]" and maintaining the Facebook page."

I know you have been keeping up with Loudon County and were aware of this decision.

Today, “the ‘vast democratic forums of the Internet’ in general”—and “social media in particular”—are “the most importance places . . . for the exchange of views.” Packingham v. North Carolina, 137 S. Ct. 1730, 1735 (2017). Among these views, as the Supreme Court has for decades emphasized, “[p]olitical speech . . . is ‘at the core of what the First Amendment is designed to protect.’” Morse v. Frederick, 551 U.S. 393, 403 (2007) (quoting Virginia v. Black, 538 U.S. 343, 365 (2003) (plurality opinion)); see also Snyder v. Phelps, 562 U.S. 443, 451–52 (2011); Schenck v. Pro-Choice Network of W. N.Y., 519 U.S. 357, 377 (1997); Friedman v. Rogers, 440 U.S. 1, 11 n.10 (1979); Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. v. Greenmoss Builders, Inc., 472 U.S. 749, 759 (1985) (plurality opinion) (quoting First Nat’l Bank of Boston v. Bellotti, 435 U.S. 765, 776 (1978)). And this protection applies whether or not the views were expressed in a refined manner. See Cohen v. California, 403 U.S. 15, 25 (1971) (“[O]ne man’s vulgarity is another lyric.”).

As such, I am prepared to strongly assert my First Amendment Rights in whatever forum is necessary. The forum decision is yours. It can be as simple as a click.

Sincerely,

By:

Brandi L. Hurley, Esq.
